

The Federal Communications Commission

Dear The Federal Communications Commission,

Why should I pay more for my telephone service? You must reject a flat fee proposal that would change how contributions are made to the Universal Service Fund. This proposal could make my current service unaffordable.

Under the flat fee proposal you are considering, people who make few long distance calls would pay the same as people or businesses that make many calls. In other words, low-volume and primarily residential customers would bear the same universal service fund burden as a high-volume residential or business customers. This is unfair! And un-American!

I use my wireless phone for safety and security. Why should I lose these benefits so that big businesses can pay less than their fair share? You must reject the proposal to move the USF collection system to a flat-fee.

Keep the USF Fair!

Sincerely,
